Amendments to the Claims

8.   Please replace claim 1 with --A method for utilizing bits in an illegal op code in , order to not increase the number of bits required to represent each instruction comprising the steps of:

        fetching a plurality of instructions from a memory; re-encoding one or more illegal op codes of one or more instructions into a single illegal op code if said one or more instructions comprise illegal op codes that are a member of a group of illegal op codes; pre-decoding a fetched instruction that ~~does not have an illegal~~ has a legal op code; and re-encoding the legal op code and one or more fields of said pre-decoded instruction into a previously illegal op code which was re-mapped into said single illegal

op code.--

9.   Please replace claim 5 with --A processor, comprising:

        an instruction cache configured to fetch a plurality of instructions; and a logic unit coupled to said instruction cache configured to re-encode one or more illegal op codes of one or more instructions into a single illegal op code if said one or more instructions comprise illegal op codes that are a member of a group of illegal op codes, wherein said logic unit is further configured to pre-decode a fetched instruction that ~~does not have an illegal~~ has a legal op code, wherein said logic unit is further configured to re-encode the legal op code and one or more fields of said pre-decoded

10.   Please replace claim 9 with --A processor, comprising:

means for fetching a plurality of instructions from a memory; means for re-encoding one or more illegal op codes of one or more instructions into a single illegal op code if said one or more instructions comprise illegal op codes that are a member of a group of illegal op codes; means for pre-decoding a fetched instruction that ~~does not have an illegal~~ has a legal op code; and means for re-encoding the legal op code and one or more fields of said pre-decoded instruction into a previously illegal op code which was re-mapped into said single illegal op code.--

11.   Please replace claim 13 with --A system, comprising:

A memory configured to store instructions,

An instruction cache coupled to said memory, wherein said instruction cache is configured to fetch a plurality of instructions from said memory,

A logic unit coupled to said instruction cache configured to re-encode one or more illegal op codes of one or more instructions into a single illegal opcode if said one or more instructions comprise illegal op codes that are a member of a group of illegal op codes, wherein said logic unit is further configured to pre-decode a fetched instruction that ~~does~~ ~~not have an illegal~~ has a legal op code, wherein said logic unit is further configured to reencode the legal op code and one or more fields of said pre-decoded instruction into a previously illegal op code which was re-mapped into said single illegal opcode.--

Drawings

12.   The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "additional pre-decoded information comprises a carry-out field" as recited in claims 3, 7, 11 and 15, as well as the "carry-out field is associated with a fetched branch instruction" as recited in claims 4, 8, 12 and 16, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

13.   The drawings are objected to for the following reasons:

      a.   Figure 3, Reference Numeral 309, appears to contain a typographical error. Please replace the phrase "Store re-encoded pre-coded instruction in instruction cache" with --Store re-encoded pre-decoded instruction in instruction cache--.

14.   Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

15.   The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record has taught the detection of instructions containing illegal opcodes, and the subsequent re-encoding of the illegal opcodes into a known opcode that represents instructions containing illegal opcodes (see Black et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,619,408), as well as replacing the illegal opcodes with valid micro-operations (see Lin et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,881,279). The prior art of record has also taught the pre-decoding of instructions and the subsequent storing of pre-decode information in locations other than in the instruction cache with the pre-decoded instructions (see Tran, U.S. Patent No. 6,122,729 and Green, U.S. Patent No. 5,951,671). Furthermore, the prior art of record has taught the pre-decoding of instructions and uses the pre-decode information to re-encode the instruction to include a computed target address (see Witt, U.S. Patent No. 6,457,117). However, no prior art references, or combination of references, of record has taught the re-encoding of illegal opcodes into known "illegal" opcodes and the subsequent re-encoding of the known "illegal" opcode, replacing the known "illegal" opcode with a new opcode and pre-decode information from another fetched instruction that contained a legal opcode.

16.   It was also noted that the claimed invention omitted an essential element that was necessary for the invention to operate as described in the specification, namely the inclusion of the legal opcode when re-encoding the one or more fields of the pre-decoded instruction into the previously illegal opcode that was re-encoded. However, after the above Examiner's Amendment, the claims are more clearly recited, with the metes and bounds of the claim more clearly defined and positively recited (see attached Interview Summary). Thus in view of the above Examiner's Amendment, the claims are allowable over the prior art of record as no prior art of record or any combination of the prior art of record has taught the limitations of the claims.

17.   Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
